Every year, more than 50,000 New Zealanders develop sepsis, a life-threatening response to infection that damages the body's tissues and organs. YOU can help raise awareness whilst protecting your staff and their whānau.

Up to 80% of deaths are preventable with earlier recognition, yet awareness remains low. More New Zealanders die from sepsis than road accidents.

The Sepsis Trust NZ raises awareness, supports survivors and families, and works with decision-makers to ensure sepsis remains a national health priority. We are the only organisation focused solely on sepsis in this country, and rely entirely on donations.

Long-term sponsorship is essential to sustain this life-saving work, and we invite you to join us as a SEPSIS PARTNER.
